Elephants in Thailand

Spotlight on

Elephants can work for about 50 years. If they are normally have a calf at age 22 months (nearly two years). A pregnant elephant carries her baby elephant for 22 months. There were 3,000 wild elephants in Thailand in 2000. There were 1,200 elephants working in Thailand in 1980. There were 1,000 elephants working in Thailand in 1990.

Asian Elephants

A wide variety of animals

Thailand's tropical climate and varied landscapes supports a wide variety of animals.

Animals and Plants

- Water buffalo
- Tiger
- Sun bear
- Proboscis
- Shouldered Python snake
- Leopards
- Hornbill
- Crocodile
- Cobra snake
- Barking deer
- Asian elephant

Animals
Rainforest: A patch of rainforest is cleared for planting crops.

Khaoyai National Park, which is famous for its wildlife and in them are protected in national parks. One of these is the farm land and animals. Some forests and the plants and animals Much of Thailand’s rainforests have been cleared for trees fall off to save water.

Trees around the rainforest help clean the water.

Monsoon rainforests grow in north Thailand where there

Although this canopy is dense, it allows light to reach the forest floor.

Deeper tropical rainforests grow in the southern part of the

There are two types of rainforests in Thailand – dense tropical

Plants

Fact File

More than 1000
Number of Orchid species

Types of Plants

Fans

Filter

Caudex

Mangrove

Grass

Teak

Ochnas

Bamboo

Types of Plants

Plants